Angel Shaw In Bone, The narrator's stepfather, Leon, tells us, "Sorrow moves through the heart, the way a ship moves through the ocean.

Bone Summary - eNotes.com

Essay on Bone by Fae Myenne Ng Fae Myenne Ng is a prominent Chinese-American writer who surely sets a very special place in the contemporary literature dealing with immigration, interculturalism and diversity. Her novels and short stories are fascinating, her writing style is bright and vivid.

This eagerly awaited follow-up to Fae Myenne Ng's first novel, Bone, again addresses the issues of Chinese-American identity in this moving, unflinching yet sometimes witty story. Jack Moon Szeto enters San Francisco in 1952, falsely posing as the son of Yi-Tung "Gold" Szeto, a registered U.S. citizen.

Amazon.com: Customer reviews: Bone

Fae Myenne Ng (born December 2, 1956 in San Francisco) is an American novelist, and short story writer. She is a first-generation Chinese American author whose debut novel Bone told the story of three Chinese American daughters growing up in her real childhood hometown of San Francisco Chinatown.

Let me start off by saying Bone by Fae Myenne Ng is a good novel. The storyline is interesting, the characters are real, and the choice of words Ng uses to convey ideas to the reader are clean and beautiful. I gave the book 3.5 stars out of 5, though on GoodReads, it will show up as 3 for obvious reasons.

Fae Myenne Ng's 'Bone' explores two generations of a family. There is Mah, the matriarch, simultaneously tied to Salmon Alley (their pocket of San Francisco's Chinatown) and to her Chinese origins. The patriarch is Leon, who cannot seem to get ahead in the American capitalistic system.
