Shared decision-making (SDM) in the management of metastatic breast cancer care is associated with positive patient outcomes. In daily clinical practice, however, SDM is not fully integrated yet. Initiatives to improve the implementation of SDM would be helpful. The aim of this review was to assess the availability and effectiveness of tools supporting SDM in metastatic breast cancer care.

Breast Cancer: Sharing the Decision uniquely examines the complexities of facilitating patient participation in treatment decisions. Much of the book is devoted to relating the experience of healthcare professionals involved in the care of women with breast cancer, but it also summarises the theory and research evidence suggesting that the integration of patients' values and priorities into treatment decisions can have a positive impact on treatment outcome and quality of life.
