The four theories relating to child development I chose for discussion are Bronfenbrenner's Ecological Systems Theory, Piaget's Theory of Cognitive Development, Vygotsky's Sociocultural Theory, and Erikson's Psycho-Social Theory of Development. I chose these theories to compare and contrast as they have influenced the educational system in North America.

Bruner and Vygotsky Similarities and differences Differences The most profound difference between Bruner and Piaget is that Piaget felt that human beings go through 4 stages , he gave the ages for every stage and a set and automatic process, while Bruner did not believe in the Both Bruner and Vygotsky emphasize a child's environment, especially the social environment, more than Piaget did. Both agree that adults should play an active role in assisting the child's learning. Bruner, like Vygotsky, emphasized the social nature of learning, citing that other people should help a child develop skills through the process of scaffolding .
