Buy Encountering Development: The Making and Unmaking of the Third World (Princeton Studies in Culture/Power/History) With a New preface by the author by Escobar, Arturo (ISBN: 9780691150451) from Amazon's Book Store. Everyday low prices and free delivery on eligible orders.

Encountering Development represents what has become an unfortunate growth industry in the 1980s and 1990s: postmodern critiques of the development industry. Escobar presents some stimulating criticisms of the whole development paradigm along with an assortment of critiques so abstract and jargon-ridden that it is difficult to understand what he and his compatriots actually mean.

Encountering Development Chapter ONE by Arturo Escobar

The BEST kind of Foucauldian anthropological research out there. A clear text demonstrating the guidelines of ethical, insightful and professional ethnographic/cultural studies writing. Once I've read Encountering Development, there's no other way to understand development discourses--and I come from a country dominated by those.

"Development" was not even partially "deconstructed" until the 1980s, when new tools for analyzing the representation of social reality were applied to specific "Third World" cases. Here Escobar deploys these new techniques in a provocative analysis of development discourse and practice in general, concluding with a discussion of alternative visions for a postdevelopment era.
