Good documentation is an important part of improving both patient care and nursing practice. Proper documentation promotes safe patient care, good communication among staff members, and the advancement of the nursing profession. To find out more about the specific documentation standards where you practice, contact your state board of nursing.

Proper and accurate documentation is essential to avoid types of nursing documentation errors, and for helping to avoid patient deaths or increased liability for the caregiving facility, physician, or nurse. This is where EMRs come in, and where effective EMR training of nursing students can play a vital role.
