This is General Ledger Book (The general ledger is to Account classify the transactions based on the accounts) / There are space for Account#, Sheet, Date, Description, Posy. Ref., Debit(-), Credit(+), Balance. / Come with Chart of accounts (is a list of account names with corresponding account numbers) / Business Bookkeeping, Checking Account Ledger, Accounting Ledger, Credit Debit Balance, Financial Accounting Entries, The Entry Is Recorded Account-Wise / Size 8.5 x11 / NOTE: Differences Between GENERAL JOURNAL vs GENERAL LEDGER: The general journal is a catch-all book of accounts where initial entry of the business transaction is recorded for the first time, in chronological order, making general journal an excellent place to review accounting transactions. The general ledger is more of a summary at the account level of every business transaction which comes from various journals containing chronological accounting entries. This information entered into the journal and summarised into the ledger is then aggregated further into a trial balance, which is used to generate the financial statements of the business entity. / GENERAL JOURNAL vs GENERAL LEDGER (Comparison Table)1. Meaning Journal is the first entry of financial transaction that is rightly summarized and recorded as per the double entry system. Ledger is recorded from the journal in a "T" format and is the source of trial balance, income statement, and balance sheet.2. Which is more important? Journal is more important than ledger because if it is done wrong, ledger can't be done right. Ledger is dependent upon the correctness of a journal because if the journal is recorded right, the ledger will follow along.3. Format The format of a journal is simple and we include date, particulars, ledger folio, debit amount and credit amount. The format of the ledger is "T" format where we use date, particulars, and amount in each side.4. Label Journal is called "book of original entry". Ledger is called "book of second entry".5. An act of recording The act of journaling is called journalizing. The act of ledgering is called posting.6. How is the entry recorded? In a journal, the entry is recorded as per the date of the transaction. In ledger, the entry is recorded account-wise.7. Narration In a journal, the narration is must to understand the nature of entry. In ledger, the narration is optional.8. Necessity of balancing. Balancing is not required in journal. Balancing is mandatory in ledger. Checkbook balance assumes you have been keeping your own record transactions. Stay in control of finances with this simple cash accounting ledger. Perfect for small businesses to keep track of income & expenses throughout the tax year Ledger Book Details: Starting Balance record Code or Check No, Date, Description, Payment Debit (-), Payment Credit (+), Total. for your write in. This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1917 edition. Excerpt: ... (6) Columns for Discount on Purchases and Discount on Notes on the same side of the Cash Book; (c) Columns for Discount on Sales and Cash Sales on the debit side of the Cash Book; (d) Departmental columns in the Sales Book and in the Purchase Book. Controlling Accounts.--The addition of special columns in books of original entry makes possible the keeping of Controlling Accounts. The most common examples of such accounts are Accounts Receivable account and Accounts Payable account. These summary accounts, respectively, displace individual customers' and creditors' accounts in the Ledger. The customers' accounts are then segregated in another book called the Sales Ledger or Customers' Ledger, while the creditors' accounts are kept in the Purchase or Creditors' Ledger. The original Ledger, now much reduced in size, is called the General Ledger. The Trial Balance now refers to the accounts in the General Ledger. It is evident that the task of taking a Trial Balance is greatly simplified because so many fewer accounts are involved. A Schedule of Accounts Receivable is then prepared, consisting of the balances found in the Sales Ledger, and its total must agree with the balance of the Accounts Receivable account shown in the Trial Balance. A similar Schedule of Accounts Payable, made up of all the balances in the Purchase Ledger, is prepared, and it must agree with the balance of the Accounts Payable account of the General Ledger." The Balance Sheet.--In the more elementary part of the text, the student learned how to prepare a Statement of Assets and Liabilities for the purpose of disclosing the net capital of an enterprise. In the present chapter he was shown how to prepare a similar statement, the Balance Sheet. For all practical...
