But our hope did not die at Calvary. No, at the darkest moment of all, when defeat seemed certain, God was sealing our hope, enthroning it for all eternity in his Son. As painful and heartbreaking as some of our days have been and will be, none will come close to the day we crucified the Lord. And yet even in that scene, God was big and strong and wise and merciful and present — he was there — bringing about his plan to save us and secure our hope forever.

God wants to bring us to a point in our lives where we cannot live without our faith in Him. In hard times, when things aren't going as we think they should, and in good times, when everything seems to be going our way. As we go through life, it becomes more and more evident to us that we cannot achieve our heavenly goal without help from God.
