Read the book that inspired the hit DreamWorks film How to Train Your Dragon 3. THE STORY BEGINS in the first volume of Hiccup's How to Train Your Dragon memoirs... Hiccup Horrendous Haddock III was an awesome sword-fighter, a dragon-whisperer and the greatest Viking Hero who ever lived. But it wasn't always like that. In fact, in the beginning, Hiccup Horrendous Haddock III was the most put upon Viking you'd ever seen. Not loud enough to make himself heard at dinner with his father, Stoick the Vast; not hard enough to beat his chief rival, Snotlout, at Bashyball, the number one school sport and CERTAINLY not stupid enough to go into a cave full of dragons to find a pet... It's time for Hiccup to learn how to be a Hero. Read all of Hiccup's exploits in the How to Train Your Dragon series: How to Train Your Dragon, How to Be a Pirate, How to Speak Dragonese, How to Cheat a Dragon's Curse, How to Twist a Dragon's Tale, A Hero's Guide to Deadly Dragons, How to Ride a Dragon's Storm, How to Break a Dragon's Heart, How to Steal a Dragon's Sword, How to Seize a Dragon's Jewel and How to Betray a Dragon's Hero.

Abstract: "The application of a bus driver scheduling system using linear programming with heuristics, to the problem of scheduling train drivers in the United Kingdom is described. The speed with which the existing proven system could be amended to model this new situation was of the utmost importance. It was required to produce a model which would allow the user to explore the consequences of implementing possible changes to an existing set of rules for constructing train driver schedules and to determine quickly whether the proposed changes would produce desirable schedules. The prototype was developed on a set of data relating to one depot, and in the first instance the existing constraints were modelled. The data set was then extended to include more depots. Testing on another set of data which exhibited different features to the original, enabled the model to be more thoroughly checked, and allowed the user the opportunity to become familiar with using it. Methods were developed which enabled new styles of constraints to be modelled, and the system had to maintain a degree of flexibility to cater for rules which only became necessary as work and testing progressed. The problems which were encountered in modifying the existing system to embrace the practices of railway operation are outlined. Because of the time constraints placed upon the exercise both the model and the data input were the subject of some simplifying assumptions. However, the ease of use of the model by the user and the degree to which the model was successfully used, demonstrated the viability of the project."

Imagine you've just managed to catch your train and you realise it's the wrong one - you'd be annoyed of course, but not scared... Yet. Imagine you get off the wrong train at the next station hoping to catch a train going back the way you came but the station is empty. Again you'd be annoyed, but not scared... Yet. Imagine someone comes to the station, someone who starts to tell you stories to help you pass the time, but these aren't any old stories... Scared yet? You will be.

'So honest and pure as to count as a true rapture' JOAN DIDION 'A poetic masterpiece' JOHNNY DEPP 'Our St John of the Cross, a mystic full of compassion' EDMUND WHITE 'A roadmap to my life', from the National Book Award-winning author of Just Kids: an unforgettable odyssey of a legendary artist, told through the prism of cafés and haunts she has worked in around the world REVISED EDITION WITH FIVE THOUSAND WORDS OF BONUS MATERIAL AND NEW PHOTOGRAPHS M Train begins in the tiny Greenwich Village café where Smith goes every morning for black coffee, ruminates on the world as it is and the world as it was, and writes in her notebook. Through prose that shifts fluidly between dreams and reality, past and present, and across a landscape of creative aspirations and inspirations, we travel to Frida Kahlo's Casa Azul in Mexico; to a meeting of an Arctic explorer's society in Berlin; to a ramshackle seaside bungalow in New York's Far Rockaway that Smith acquires just before Hurricane Sandy hits; and to the graves of Genet, Plath, Rimbaud and Mishima. Woven throughout are reflections on the writer's craft and on artistic creation. Here, too, are singular memories of Smith's life in Michigan and the irremediable loss of her husband, Fred Sonic Smith. Braiding despair with hope and consolation, illustrated with her signature Polaroids, M Train is a meditation on travel, detective shows, literature and coffee. It is a powerful, deeply moving book by one of the most remarkable artists at work today.

This book is packed with strategies and insights that will help you design better training courses. It focuses on how people learn as the key factor in making design decisions. The book shows you how to design a good course for any field, no matter what medium you use to deliver it. Learn how the brain works, how people forget, how to gain and maintain attention and how to make a subject interesting. Then use the easy-to-follow guidelines to design strategically by increasing curiosity, making content emotional, making learners practise what they have learned and using failure as a teaching tool. The art of designing a course and making people learn is mastered through practical experience of running courses; the science is gained by evidence-based research on how people learn. The book combines the two, offering many examples and studies in cognitive psychology, neuroscience, instructional design and training the trainer. You will find lots of examples and studies in the book that provide insights that may not be obvious but that lead to important design decisions. They will change forever how you think about training design and delivery and help you design courses that your learners will love. In Course Design Strategy, you will learn: · How to make content memorable · What learners expect from a course · How people learn and forget, and why this should be the cornerstone of any course design · How to use eureka moments and eureka concepts as the building blocks of course design · How to make content easy to learn · Why the presence of a feedback loop is crucial to learning · How to use exercises and tests to enhance learning

" The Train Leaving Salisbury" (Four decades of memories - an African Railway story) authored by Kenny Rukovo is a narration of his experiences growing up as a child whose parents were hired by the then Rhodesia Railways on the same day and subsequently worked together at the same railway clinic from 1963 to 2000 before retirement. Mr and Mrs Ngara who are Kenny's parents were nurses manning a railway clinic catering for railway employees and their families. They worked in a unique department of the Rhodesia Railways which later became National Railways of Zimbabwe in 1980 following attainment of Zimbabwe's independence. Their department was responsible for upgrading the rail size from the smaller size 60 and 80 lbs to 91 lbs and replacing teak wooden sleepers with concrete sleepers throughout the railway system in the country. This therefore meant transferring from one station or siding to another frequently following work progress by Track laying crews. This brought about challenges of finding permanent school placements for their children Kenny, Christopher, Petronella and Moses. This also called for intensive and extensive train travel for the family to access boarding schools, cities and the family rural home in Gokwe district of Zimbabwe. After graduating from high school Kenny, who had developed a strong passion for working as an Engineman (train driver) also was hired by the National Railways of Zimbabwe as a Personnel Clerk in 1983 hoping to change grades to Engineman later. This however never happened until he retired early in 2001. Kenny got married to Nessie in 1986. Nessie was also hired by the National Railways of Zimbabwe as a Typist Clerk in 1987. Both families became permanently stationed at Rutenga station. Kenny and Nessie later transferred to the city of Bulawayo following Kenny's promotion to Job Analyst in 1988. Kenny's railway experience as a child and later as an employee, is filled with very interesting adventures. The couple later decided to migrate to Canada with their three children Zviko, Cleopatra and Petronella in 2001. The railway life experience is as unique as the railway industry itself. Many former railway employees become lifetime railway enthusiasts wherever they live across the globe. The saying goes " A railway employee graduates to a railwayman". Enjoy this story of an African child who grow up seeing and riding trains which he became bonded to for life.

'Amazing' Guardian From the on-screen experts for BBC2's Cat Watch, and based on their groundbreaking research - this is the ultimate guide to making your cat a happier, more sociable animal. The idea of a trained cat is a contradiction in terms, isn't it? Naturally solitary, wary, easily threatened by newcomers, they are attached to place rather than people, and much of their 'antisocial' behaviour arises in situations where that attachment is threatened. But, as cat experts Sarah Ellis and John Bradshaw argue, such stress-induced behaviour can be prevented, reduced, even eliminated, by training. A comprehensive and engaging step-by-step guide, The Trainable Cat will help you to help your cat negotiate the complexities of everyday life: to enjoy living with humans - including new babies and lively toddlers - and other pets; to answer to their name; settle into a new home; and to overcome the anxiety of a visit to the vet. You can train your cat to do what is in its own best interests - even when its instincts tell it otherwise. 'I doubt you'll find a more well-informed or scientific book on cats that better shows you how feline thinking works' The Times

The Most Up-to-Date, Comprehensive and Fun Guide to Becoming a Vet - Over 100 pages This fact-pact and enlightening book covers everything kids need to know about becoming a vet. It also gives a realistic view of what daily life is like as a vet - the challenges and triumphs. My name is Susanna Lee and recently my daughter Monica, who has a passion for animals, asked me to help her find information on becoming a vet. Surprisingly, I couldn't find a book that contains up-to-date information and gives a real insight into what it takes to become a vet. Most importantly, I wanted my daughter to be able to decide for herself if veterinary medicine was truly the career for her based on getting the most rounded picture possible - the good, the bad and everything in between. So being a journalist and writer for over 20 years, I took up the challenge to create that missing book! In How to Become a Veterinarian, I share the latest practical information available, but also offer a human perspective on life as a vet and what it's really like to work towards that goal. This book covers: □ A History Of Veterinary Practice □ The Different Types of Vets □ Training to be a Vet □ Qualifications You Will Need □ What Veterinary Students Are Taught □ Life as a vet □ Is Veterinary Medicine the Right Career for You? □ The Hardest Parts of Being a Vet □ The Best Parts of Being a Vet □ What You Can Start Doing NOW □ Veterinary Assistants □ Veterinary Technicians □ Myths and Fun Facts About Veterinary Medicine □ Pioneering Veterinarians □ Best Colleges for Veterinary Medicine
