Music - Curriculum

The consultation closes on August 8, but today's 224-page document gives a good indication of the curriculum teachers might be working to from 2014. The proposed document describes music as a 'universal language that embodies one of the highest forms of creativity', which could increase pupils' self-confidence and sense of achievement. Improvisation and composition will both be taught at age 7-14 (KS2 and KS3), and pupils will learn about great composers and great musicians from a range of ...
