Together, these readings provide a multifaceted and often intersectional look at how race, gender, and class relate to the creation and use of media texts as well as the media texts themselves.

Designed to be flexible in the classroom, the book begins with a detailed introduction to key concepts and presents a contextualizing introduction to each of the three main sections.

A CULTURAL TO GENDER, RACE, AND CLASS IN MEDIA

This provocative new edition of Gender, Race, and Class in Media engages students in critical media scholarship by encouraging them to analyze their own media experiences and interests. Students explore some of the most important forms of today's popular culture—including the internet, social media, television series, films, music, and advertising—in three distinct but related areas of investigation: the political economy of production, textual analysis, and audience response.
