MOHD40 - MELTON LACEY

The death of distance Frances Cairncross It is sometimes said that the internet, and the way companies use it, does not represent a radical change from what went before. An email is just an electronic memo, and a corporate intranet is not so different from the proprietary networks that were widely installed in the late 1980s and early 1990s.

The Myth of Technology and the Death of Distance ...

Directed by Frank R. Strayer. With Russell Hopton, Lola Lane, George F. Marion, Lee Kohlmar. While a distinguished astronomer is giving a lecture in a planetarium, a shot rings out and one of the audience members is found dead. A tough detective and a brassy female reporter lock horns as they both try to break the case.

Since Cairncross (1997), the notion of the "death of distance" has gained traction, both in the work of academics but more especially in the popular image of globalisation. Citing radical improvements in the cost and efficacy of long-distance communication and transportation, Cairncross depicts a world marked by the free movement of goods, people, and ideas.
