The Gospel according to Matthew Matthew - also known as Levi - was a tax collector and one of the original 12 disciples of Jesus. Financial details within the Gospel of Matthew suggest the author was very familiar with economics - he mentions the drachma, stater, talent, gold and silver... just like a tax collector would.

The gospel will be preached in all the world, and then the end will come. Jesus will descend to earth on the clouds of heaven in power and great glory. Then the kingdom of God will be established, of which there will be no end. Matthew's gospel closes with accounts of Jesus' resurrection and his appearance to the disciples.
