Welders are responsible for designing, cutting, and permanently joining metal parts together through the application of appropriate welding techniques. Their job description entails fusing metal materials together using high heat equipment and welding processes such as MIG, TIG, and electric arc welding.

ISO 14731:2006 identifies the quality-related responsibilities and tasks included in the coordination of welding-related activities. In any manufacturing organization, welding coordination can be undertaken by one or a number of persons. Welding coordination requirements can be specified by a manufacturer, a contract or an application standard.

ISO 14731:2019(en), Welding coordination ? Tasks and ...

The standard defines further: Where welding coordination is carried out by more than one person, the tasks and responsibilities shall be clearly allocated, such that responsibility is clearly defined and the persons are qualified for each specific welding coordination task. Welding coordination is the sole responsibility of the manufacturer.

ISO 3834 states “The manufacturer SHALL have at his disposal appropriate welding coordination personnel. Such persons having responsibility for quality activities SHALL have sufficient authority to enable any necessary action to be taken. The tasks and responsibilities of such persons SHALL be clearly defined”

Validation and verification of welding requires competent personnel to perform welding coordination to establish confidence in weld quality and to ensure reliable performance in service. The tasks and responsibilities of welding coordination personnel involved in welding-related activities (e.g. planning, executing, supervising and inspection) need to be clearly defined.
